The list that Steve Mason sent us yesterday had Waller County and Rapides Parish listed as Federally Declared with A and B categories, so that's what I included on the map. I will go check with response to see if there is another reason that Waller and Rapides are not included on the map.

Thanks Melody, but I am thinking that these are not in the same category as what the response folks are using to create the maps and the list of sites. I need to better understand the categories and determine why our maps do not match.

I see that the map from the response folks do not include Waller county or Rapides Parish. These must have a different designation.

Katrina,

I've attached the map with the NPL sites in the counties/parishes that are considered Federally Declared and of Categories A & B. I was told that those were the ones to represent.

There are 43 NPL sites within the Federally Declared Areas. I updated & attached the NPL spreadsheet you sent me by adding Sheridan Disposal Services (Waller County) and Ruston Foundry (Rapides Parish).

Well, looks like a few more LA parishes. Will you please update—thanks again.

I don't think the table has all of the Superfund sites listed. Will you just double check that as well?

I was wondering when they would add a few more of those really important counties!
I've made the changes for you. Let me know if you see anything that needs to be modified. San Jacinto River Waste Pits wasn't on the first map, but it is now.
Have a good evening!

Melody, bad news. Additional counties have been added. Will you update the map you did for me and include these additional sites?

thanks

Hi Katrina, See if this map will work for you. The Houston inset is rather large, but I wanted to make sure the sites were discernable. Let me know of any changes or additions you would like to make. I'll be glad to do them!

I will start it right now. Is page size 17"x11" ok?

Melody, will you please create a map for me that shows the states of Texas and Louisiana and identifies the site located in the federally listed counties?

thanks
